CHAPTER III

Procedure for inspection

19. Internal inspection of economiser chamber.—Detailed instructions for the inspection of economisers are contained in Chapter XI of the Regulations. The following general procedure at inspection shall be observed, namely:—

(a) At a thorough inspection of an economiser, the Inspector shall, wherever possible, have either the steel casing doors opened or the brickwork completely removed on the outside of the economiser chamber to enable him to make a thorough examination of the external surfaces of the tubes. But before doing so, he shall satisfy himself that proper provisions have been made to isolate the economiser on the gas side as well as on the water connections of the boiler and from any other working economiser.

(b) Should the Inspector find that the economiser has not been disconnected on the feed line or is not sufficiently scaled on the gas side or is unreasonably hot or not properly cleaned or scaled, he shall decline to proceed with the inspection and report the facts to the Chief Inspector for orders under sub-section (2) of section 14.

(c) When an economiser chamber is of such a size or its construction is such that the Inspector cannot go inside it, reasonable provision shall then be made for the external examination of the principal parts. If for any reason the Inspector cannot examine it, he shall report the facts to the Chief Inspector for orders.

20. Preparation for hydraulic test.—(a) The chest of all mountings, subject to the water pressure, shall be in place and shut tight or blank flanged.

The relief valve shall, either be secured or removed, and the chest opening blank flanged. The attachment for the Inspector's pressure gauge and the nipple for connecting the Inspector's test pump hose shall be in order. All caps shall be properly fitted and tightened up. The economiser shall be completely filled with water, care being taken to allow all air to escape and, if possible, a preliminary test not exceeding the working pressure of the economiser shall be taken before the Inspector visits to test the tightness of the joint. When an economiser is hydraulically tested, it shall be offered entirely bare.

(b) Hydraulic tests of economiser shall be made after the inspection. The test pressure to be applied to economisers at such subsequent examinations shall be from one and a quarter to one and a half times the working pressure of the economiser.

Provided that the Chief Inspector may, at his discretion, waive the requirement of hydraulic test of an economiser, if he deems fit.

21. External inspection of economiser.—(a) After the economiser has been cleaned, the Inspector shall make a thorough examination so far as it construction permits. The external condition of the tubes shall be carefully noted for wasting especially at the feed inlet end and all accessible tubes shall be calipered. The internal surfaces of cast iron tubes shall be calipered as far as possible and shall be closely observed for graphitic wasting. In the event of any failure, these shall be broken up for scrutiny, so that the general internal condition of the other tubes may be estimated.

(b) Where tubes or other parts are wasted, the strength shall be recalculated.

(c) The scraper gear shall be examined to note if any parts are missing, if the length of travel is adequate and if the scrapers are correctly adjusted.

(d) All cap bolts are to be inspected, also the condition and position of the dampers and baffles.

(e) The record of each inspection and calculation shall be entered in the Memorandum of Inspection Book.

22. Casual inspections.—The Inspector shall note if the economiser is working satisfactorily and especially in accordance with the regulation 531 of the Regulations. Particular note shall be taken of the satisfactory working of the scrapers and of the water temperature to see that the maximum outlet water temperature of the economiser shall be at least 40° F. below the saturated steam temperature in the boiler.

23. Proposal for reduction of pressure.—When the inspector decides that an economiser in one or more of its parts is no longer fit for the pressure approved for it, he shall, without delay, report his proposals for reducing the pressure to the Chief Inspector.

24. Repairs to economisers.—No pressure parts in a cast iron economiser shall be permitted to be repaired by welding.

(2) Casting shall not be repaired or welded without the specific sanction of the Inspecting Officer. If required, the casting shall be suitably re-heat-treated to remove internal stresses. Should a defect impair the strength of the casting, repair by welding or otherwise shall not be permitted.

25. Entries in memorandum of inspection books.—(1) The Inspector shall, after an inspection, make the necessary entries in the Memorandum of Inspection Book for the economiser and submit the Book to the Chief Inspector.

(2) Inspection notes shall briefly state the following facts, namely:—

(a) the extent to which economisers were cleared of brickwork, lagging or concealing parts;
